Applicant's election with traverse of product claims 1-12,26,27 in the reply filed on 10/14/05 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that the inventions are related. This is not found persuasive because as stated in the requirement the product can be made by an alternate process and applicant has not shown otherwise. The fact that the inventions are related is not by itself persuasive to remove the requirement. Likewise a financial burden is not persuasive.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-12,26,27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Enquist '880.

Enquist shows in figure 6 an HBT including a "ledge" passivation layer 15A that overlaps with the base contact. The ledge is depleted (col.6 lines 37-57). Claims 1-3 are anticipated. Claims 8-10 are rejected as the process of producing the product does not structurally distinguish the final product over the applied art. A product by process claim is directed to the product per se, no matter how actually made, In re Hirao, 190 USPQ 15 at 17 (footnote 3). See also In re Brown, 173 USPQ 685; In re Luck 177 USPQ 523; In re Fessman 180 USPQ 324; In re Avery 186 USPQ 161; In re Wertheim 191 USPQ 90; and In re Marosi et al 218 USPQ 289, all of which make it clear that it is the patentability of the final product per se which must be determined in a "product by process claim, and not the patentability of the process, and that an old product produced by a new method is not patentable as a product, whether claimed in "product by process claims or not. Note that applicant has the burden of proof in such cases, as the above caselaw makes clear.

Claims regarding InP based material are considered anticipated or obvious as column 8 lines 52-61 state that the invention is applicable to HBT's formed with other materials such as InP based materials.

Claims 1-12, 26 and 27 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Yanagisawa '941.

Yanagisawa shows ledge passivation of InP material in an HBT that completely covers the base layer. Applicant's claims are anticipated or obvious over '941.

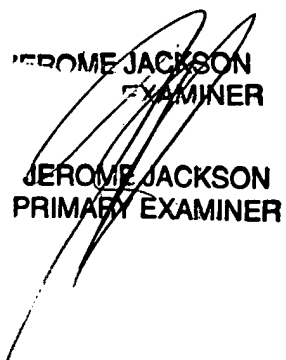

Bahl '082 and Yoshioka '973 are similar cumulative relevant art.
